What is Gender Based Violence?

“One harmful act that is perpetrated against a person’s will and that is based on socially ascribed (i.e. gender) differences between males and females.

Includes acts that inflict physical, sexual or mental harm or suffering, threats of such acts, coercion, and other deprivations of liberty.”

Why is addressing GBV an urgent priority?

• GBV is a life-threatening, global health and human rights issue
• GBV violates international law & principles of gender equality
• UN Member States have called for urgent action
• Protection must be central to all humanitarian response
Focus on Context: The Ecological Framework

Includes: cultural and social norms about gender roles, legal and political frameworks, attitudes towards using violence as means of resolving conflicts.

Immediate context in which abuse can occur: between individuals, within families. Power inequalities that can reinforce subordinate/privileged positions.

Dynamics between and among people, influenced by socialization within structures such as schools, health care institutions, peer groups and in work relationships.

Knowledge, personal security, access to/control of resources, services, social benefits, personal history, attitudes toward gender...
What is GBV in Emergencies?

- Breakdown in community/family support systems and family separation
- Changes in social norms/social structures
- Weakened or non-existent institutions (such as health systems, justice, police)
- Increased vulnerabilities of certain high-risk groups
- Physical environment: site layout, local environment
Evidence not required for Action

“All humanitarian personnel have the responsibility to assume GBV is taking place, to treat it as a serious and life-threatening protection issue, and to take action described in to minimize GBV risk through their sectoral interventions, regardless of the presence or absence of concrete “evidence”.

Revised GBV Guidelines (2015)
Addressing GBV: A UNFPA Priority

“Together we must ensure that action to prevent and respond to gender-based violence is a priority— a systematic and unquestionable part of our humanitarian response, at the heart of UNFPA’s work to improve the health, safety, and well-being of women and girls in emergencies.”

Babatunde Osotimehin, UNFPA Executive Director
What is the purpose of the Minimum Standards?

To promote safety of women & girls

To provide clear guidance and tools to prevent & respond to GBV in emergencies

To increase accountability – to make addressing GBV unquestionable
How were the Minimum Standards developed?

- 2 x global consultations (50+ UNFPA staff)
- 43 x countries surveyed
- Based on international guidance
- Field case studies & good practices

- December 2014: Nairobi consultation
- July 2015: Panama consultation
- October 2015: Endorsed by UNFPA HSC
- November 2015: Launch begins
- March 2016: Global Launch
How do the MS relate to existing guidelines & policies?

The Standards:

✔ Integrate key inter-agency standards & guidelines
✔ Align with UNFPA policies
✔ Fill a niche
Who are the Standards intended for?

The Minimum Standards are primarily for:

✓ UNFPA Staff & partners

The Standards may also be a useful resource for:

✓ National authorities
✓ Other UN agencies
✓ International, local & community organizations
✓ Implementing partners

To inform development of inter-agency Standards

11. Referral Systems: Referral systems are established to connect women, girls and other at-risk groups to appropriate multi-sector GBV prevention and response services in a timely and safe manner.

12. Mainstreaming: GBV risk mitigation and support are integrated across humanitarian sectors at every stage of the programme cycle.
Operational & Coordination Standards

13. Preparedness & Assessment: Potential GBV risks and vulnerable groups are identified through quality, gender-sensitive assessments and risk mitigation measures are put in place before the onset of an emergency.

14. Coordination: Coordination results in effective action to mitigate and prevent GBV and promote survivors’ access to multi-sector services.
